

The Bio Cranial System and ADDH

I saw an 8 year old boy who has ADDH. He was kicked out of his pre-school and now that he is in public elementary school he is on the verge of being booted from that school. His parents were at their wits end and even considered taking him to have electroshock therapy. On Monday I gave him a biocranial and immediately I saw a change in his face. It was not as swollen or bloated looking. His mother called me the next day and said that he received two happy face stickers at school, He was able to finish his homework in 5 minutes which usually took him forever. His aunt took him to the DMV and he sat patiently for her. She said he would usually be all over the place. He also is playing with his sister and friends without getting mad. What a difference with just one biocranial treatment.
