

To the Practitioner with an Inquiring Mind

After viewing practitioners from all disciplines for nearly fifty years (Where did the time go?) a common thread prevails. There are two groups of practitioners from my perspective.

(1) The practitioner that goes to his/her perspective college of a certain endeavor. They learn their trade, open their office or work with others, and from the day they graduate and start treating the public they, except for slight variances, treat the same way their whole professional life. This is not to say they lack skill, on the contrary, there are many great practitioners that have had successful careers and their patients would not disagree. If you are a practitioner in this category, then read no further.

The second (2) group of practitioners are the ones that are always striving for more answers, those will be addressed in this forum. They are the ones who see limitation in their practice when treating certain conditions and know there are better answers. They are successful and bored. They secretly know something needs to change. I hope you will do what I did fourteen years ago. I made a choice that changed my professional life, and dramatically changed the way I was able to impact a patients health in a profoundly positive way. I suggest you answer the following questions. If you answer yes to these questions, don't hesitate, get trained in the Bio Cranial System™.

Would you like to predict the out come of your therapy??

Would you like to increase the scope of practice??

Do you want people saying, "Wow. that is amazing!" about their results??

Do you want to get at the cause of the problem??

Are you tired of just treating Symptoms??

How would you like a flood of testimonials like the one below??

Hi Dr-----, Thanks for the great treatment today. (March 5, 2012).

"After a few months of troublesome digestive issues, and constant nagging pain between the shoulder blades I decided to see Dr.---- (This is after I had already seen 3 other practitioners, which offered no solution or relief.) He evaluated me and treated me with the Bio Cranial System™. The relief was almost instant! I couldn't believe when I walked out to pay for my visit, it felt like there was nothing at all where my neck used to be! I felt absolutely nothing there, like there was only air between my chin and my chest; my neck was so light and unencumbered! I wondered if that was how people were supposed to feel all the time! Anyhow, my digestive troubles are almost completely resolved after just one visit, and the pain between my shoulder blades has not returned, 10 days. AMAZING! Thanks to Dr ---, I am feeling much better. It was truly like a miracle, and I will definitely be coming back." Again, thank you. I was very frustrated with my situation and it was starting to put me in a perpetual bad mood. Now I'm feeling better, and feeling grateful to have connected with the right practitioner. See you in a couple weeks!! Sincerely, J.C.
